Leghorn, July 24.

THE Beginning of this Month arrived here his Britannick Majesty's Ship the Dolphin, Lord Aubrey Vere Commander, last from Genoa, from whence she brought the Earl of Pomfret and his Family, (who it is said design to pass some Time at Sienna) the Earl of Sandwich, and the Lord Charles Fitzroy. On the 7th came into this Port two of the Pope's Gallies, which had carried from Civita Vecchia to Genoa Sig. Oddi, the Pope's Nuncio to the Court of Portugal, who on the 27th past sailed in an English Ship for Lisbon. The same Day arrived here from Genoa the Envoy of the States General, in his Way to the Court of Naples. We have an Account from Modena, that three French Gallies being appointed to sail from Marseilles to Antibes, to conduct from thence to Genoa the Dutchess of Modena, on her Return from Paris to Modena, the Duke had sent Count Guicciardi, a Gentleman of his Bedchamber, and an Officer of his Life-Guards, to attend her Highness at Genoa. On the 11th sailed Westward the Dolphin, commanded by Lord Aubrey Vere. On the 15th M. de Wachtendonck reviewed the Regiment of Palavicini in the Presence of the Lord Pomfret, who on the 19th set out for Sienna.

Florence, July 27. A few Days ago an Order was published here, commanding all Persons possess'd of Lands in the Country, to set up Beehives, for increasing the Production of Wax and Honey, under a severe Penalty if the Order be not complied with in twelve Months. About 50 Families of Peasants are arrived here from Lorrain, in order to settle themselves in the Maremme of Sienna, and cultivate that Part of the Country which is mostly uninhabited: For their Encouragement, each Family is allow'd by the Government a certain Quantity of Ground with a few Cattle and other Things necessary for their Subsistance, till they can maintain themselves upon the Produce of their Settlements. On the 24th Sig. Caspari, the Great Duke's Commissary at War, set out from hence to review the Tuscan Garrisons at Pisa, Leghorn, Porto Ferraio, and Grosseto. Several Pieces of Brass Cannon have been brought hither from Sienna and other Fortresses of this State, in order to be new cast.
